

Media advisory

GREENPEACE

Ontario's Energy Bill is a set up for more gas plant fiascos, say environmentalists

24 February 2016 (Toronto) – The Wynne government's proposed changes to Ontario's energy planning laws will increase secrecy and the potential for more gas plant fiascos, say environmental groups. The Canadian Environmental Law Association (CELA), Greenpeace and the Green Energy Coalition (GEC) will tell a committee of the Legislature today that Bill 135, which amends Ontario's provincial energy planning laws, should be amended or thrown out.

What: Press conference regarding the proposed changes to Ontario's energy planning laws

Who:

- Shawn-Patrick Stensil, Senior Energy Analyst, Greenpeace Canada
- Jacqueline Wilson, Counsel, Canadian Environmental Law Association (CELA)
- David Poch, Counsel, Green Energy Coalition (Greenpeace, Sierra Club & Pembina Institute)

When: Wednesday 24 February at 9.15am – 9.45am

Where: Media studio, Queen's Park

- 30 -

For more information:

Marie Moucharry, Communications Officer, marie.moucharry@greenpeace.org 438-993-6127