WANTED:

REX TILLERSON, CHAIRMAN AND CEO, EXXON MOBIL CORPORATION

It's critical that the people in your community understand the destructive role that big polluters like Rex Tillerson of Exxon Mobil play in undermining climate legislation and wrecking havoc on the planet. That's why we are asking you to help launch Project PolluterWatch and to put up these "wanted" posters in your hometown so that your neighbors can be on the lookout for this dangerous climate criminal.

In this toolkit you'll find simple instructions and tips for putting the up posters around town as well as information on how to report back your good work. Have fun!

Step by step instructions...

1. Print 25 copies of the poster (page 2) from home or go to your local copy store. Print it really big if you'd like, or tiny so that you can hand it out as fliers to people who you meet along the way. Whichever you prefer.
2. Put up posters all over town anywhere that you can think of. If it's legal and lots of people will see it, it's a good place for a poster.

QUICK TIP: When you ask to put up a poster, you can say, "Hi! My name is _____, I'm a volunteer with Greenpeace. Global warming is a really important issue to me because of _____ (say why you care). But big polluters like Exxon Mobil are doing everything they can to stop real climate change legislation from passing. I'm putting up these posters so everyone knows the role that climate criminals like Rex Tillerson are playing in fighting the clean energy economy we need. It'd make a huge difference if you could put up this poster -- can you? Great. Thanks!"

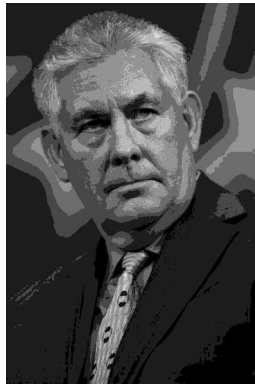

3. Think you've found a really clever place for a poster? Take a picture and share it with us. We'd love to see it. Actually, if you have a camera you should bring it along and take a photo of all the posters you've put up and share them with us.
4. After you've finished putting up posters, let us know how it went by visiting <http://members.greenpeace.org/survey/start/248/>

That's all there is to it. The time has come to expose the people responsible for holding back the clean energy future that we know we need. So have fun and know that every person who sees your poster will be one less person fooled by climate criminals like Mr. Tillerson.
