MAY 1, 2007: CLARIFICATIONS SOUGHT

From: ashish fernandes <ashish.fernandes@gmail.com>
Date: May 1, 2007 9:26 PM
Subject: Re: clarification
To: Pratyush Mohapatra <pratyush.kingcobra@gmail.com>, sk_dutta@yahoo.com

Thanks Prathyush, Dr. Dutta,
Regarding F. Leucobalia, please clarify this for sure, is this the first report from Indian mainland or not. Dr. Dutta, from your earlier mail I understood that this is the first record from the mainland. Please clarify. We need to be very sure of this or we will all be made to look bad in public....

As for F. cancrivora, that is definitely the first record from mainland India right?
I will be sending the edited report with the executive summary across in a day or two for your comments.

Prathyush, I am still waiting for the DVD with the images and the captions. Please send those across urgently in the next day or two, as we will be doing the DTP work for the report soon.

thanks,
ashish

Dear Dr. Dutta, Prathyush, pl. find attached the edited version of the report, including the executive summary. Please go through it carefully and let me know in case of any errors, mistakes or changes that need to be made. Same with the appendix.

I have marked somethings in red highlighting where we need clarifications or additional information, please fill those in as well.

Prathyush, I have still not received the CD with the images and the caption list. I need these urgently.

thanks,
ashish

MAY 24, CORRESPONDENCE REGARDING CORAL

From: Pratyush Mohapatra <pratyush.kingcobra@gmail.com>

Date: May 24, 2007 4:37 PM

Subject: Re: pic for identification

To: ashish fernandes <ashish.fernandes@gmail.com>

Dear Ashish

Yes it is a File snake. Regarding the Coral, it was found just near the boundary of the Defence establishment near Chandinipal.

Sending you the photograph of Indo-pacific Humpback Dolphin, photographed by Sir, (yes not in this trip, but taken earlier at Dhamra).

Cheers.

Hi prathyush is this a file snake?

secondly, can you give the location where the coral was found? do you have GPS for it, if not pl. give approximate location. Also, any idea on the species identification of it? It could be important as an indicator of coral formations offshore. pl. revert as soon as possible, thanks,
