

END THE AGE OF PLASTIC

GREENPEACE

GREENPEACE SPOKESPEOPLE AT THE GLOBAL PLASTICS TREATY NEGOTIATIONS IN OTTAWA, CANADA

INSIDE THE UN (SHAW CENTRE) AS OFFICIAL DELEGATES:

Graham Forbes - Greenpeace USA (English)

On Twitter: @graham_fo

Graham Forbes is Greenpeace Head of Delegation to the Global Plastics Treaty negotiations and leads the organization's global plastics campaign that aims to end plastic pollution and accelerate a just transition towards a zero-waste, climate-safe future. He has over 15 years of experience leading successful campaigns on environmental, labor and social justice issues. Graham is working with campaigners around the world as the Greenpeace network's Head of Delegation to the United Nations negotiations to secure a strong and ambitious Global Plastics Treaty.

Sarah King - Greenpeace Canada (English)

On Twitter: @sckinger

Sarah King is the Head of Oceans and Plastics Campaigns at Greenpeace Canada. She has over a decade of experience leading campaigns tackling the biggest threats to the oceans including plastic pollution, and championing zero waste solutions, biodiversity protection and social justice. Sarah leads the organization's national political work, and brings knowledge of the plastic, zero waste, and reuse landscape across sectors in Canada and beyond.

Patrick Bonin Greenpeace Canada (French) (Remote)

On Twitter: @Patbonin

Patrick Bonin is a climate & energy campaigner with Greenpeace Canada with over 20 years of experience on national and international climate and energy policies. He has been a Greenpeace Canada spokesperson for over 10 years, specializing in environmental public policy with extensive experience on environmental issues.

Patrick Bonin est responsable pour la campagne Climat-Énergie à de Greenpeace Canada. Il a plus de 20 ans d'expérience dans le domaine des politiques nationales et internationales en matière de climat et d'énergie. En tant qu'un des porte-paroles de Greenpeace Canada depuis plus de 10 ans, il est spécialiste des politiques publiques en environnement et possède une vaste expérience sur les enjeux environnementaux.

Joëlle Hérin Greenpeace Switzerland (English/French)

Since January 2022, Joëlle Hérin has been working as a campaigner and subject matter expert in the area of consumption systems, plastics and the circular economy at Greenpeace Switzerland. Joëlle worked on sustainable development after several years of scientific research and led transformative IT projects for EU institutions and the energy sector. Her experience includes climate protection, energy efficiency, renewable energy, mobility and sustainable consumption.

Marian Ledesma GPSEA - Philippines (English/Filipino)

On Twitter: @marian16rox

Marian Ledesma is the Zero Waste Campaigner at Greenpeace Philippines, where she previously worked as the Climate Justice and Liability campaign coordinator. Marian has been an environmental activist/advocate for over 18 years, first campaigning on climate change and renewable energy as a youth leader. Marian has been part of the Greenpeace delegation since UNEA 5.2 and can bring a detailed analysis of the process. She brings in the perspective of the impact plastic pollution crisis in Southeast Asia and is focused on the communities most impacted by climate change.

Hellen Kahaso Dena Greenpeace Africa (English/Swahili)

On Twitter: @hellendena

Hellen Kahaso Dena is a campaigner and communication specialist with Greenpeace Africa, based in Nairobi, with a demonstrated history of working in the NGO sector. She has been lobbying the African states since INC3 in Kenya and brings expertise on environmental and social issues concerning the African continent. Hellen has decades of experience working in the NGO sector from tackling the plastic pollution crisis to amplifying the voices of those at the frontline of environmental injustices.

Juressa Lee - Greenpeace Aotearoa (English)

On Twitter: @juressa

Juressa Lee is tangata whenua (indigenous to Aotearoa New Zealand) and tangata Moana (Indigenous to the Pacific). They are the Plastics Campaigner for Greenpeace Aotearoa. Juressa is a recognised thought leader in New Zealand for their many years of work to protect nature and champion Indigenous knowledge, including campaigning to save urban forests, ending plastic pollution at source and promoting Indigenous solutions as a pathway for overcoming the intersecting climate change, biodiversity and inequality crises.

Shady Khalil Greenpeace Middle East and North Africa (English/Arabic)

On Twitter: @SKhalilMENA

Shady Khalil is the regional campaigns lead of Greenpeace MENA and also co-founder and board director of Greenish, an Egyptian organization that promotes sustainable development through educational activities. Shady is leading political work for Greenpeace Middle East and North Africa which includes political strategies, implementation and representing the organization in international negotiations.

Media Contact:

Brandon Wei, Communications officer, Greenpeace Canada
brandon.wei@greenpeace.org; +1 778 772-6138

Laura Bergamo, Head of media, Greenpeace Canada
laura.bergamo@greenpeace.org; +1 438 928 5237

Angelica Carballo Pago, Global Plastics Media Lead, Greenpeace USA
angelica.pago@greenpeace.org | +63 917 112 4492
On Twitter: @gelpago

The deadline for media accreditation registration is on April 16, 2024.