INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

Board of Directors Greenpeace, Inc. Washington, DC

Report on the Audit of the Financial Statements

Opinion

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of Greenpeace, Inc. (the Organization), which comprise the statements of financial position as of December 31, 2023 and 2022, and the related statements of activities, cash flows, and functional expenses for the years then ended, and the related notes to financial statements.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Greenpeace, Inc. as of December 31, 2023 and 2022, and the changes in net assets and its cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America (GAAS). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are required to be independent of Greenpeace, Inc. and to meet our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with the relevant ethical requirements relating to our audits. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Responsibilities of Management for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, and for the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is required to evaluate whether there are conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, that raise substantial doubt about Greenpeace, Inc.'s ability to continue as a going concern for one year after the date the financial statements are available to be issued.

Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditors' report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not absolute assurance and therefore is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with GAAS will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control. Misstatements are considered material if there is a substantial likelihood that, individually or in the aggregate, they would influence the judgment made by a reasonable user based on the financial statements.

In performing an audit in accordance with GAAS, we:

- Exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit.
- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, and design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks. Such procedures include examining, on a test basis, evidence regarding the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of Greenpeace, Inc.'s internal control. Accordingly, no such opinion is expressed.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluate the overall presentation of the financial statements.
- Conclude whether, in our judgment, there are conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, that raise substantial doubt about Greenpeace, Inc.'s ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time.

We are required to communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit, significant audit findings, and certain internal control related matters that we identified during the audit.

Notes to Financial Statements December 31, 2023 and 2022

1. Nature of Operations

Greenpeace, Inc. (the Organization) was established in 1987 as a nonprofit corporation to promote the protection and preservation of the environment through lobbying, education, advocacy, and peaceful direct action. Its activities are carried out through various programs and campaigns in support of this mission. The Organization's primary sources of revenues are contributions from individuals, grants from the Greenpeace Fund, Inc. (the Fund), and grants from Stichting Greenpeace Council (the Council).

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of Accounting

The Organization's financial statements are prepared on the accrual basis of accounting and are in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (U.S. GAAP) for nonprofit organizations. Net assets are reported based on the presence or absence of donor-imposed restrictions, as follows:

- Net assets without donor restrictions represent funds that are not subject to donor-imposed stipulations and are available for support of the Organization's operations.
- Net assets with donor restrictions represent funds that are subject to donor-imposed restrictions that are met through specific actions of the Organization or through the passage of time. Net assets with donor restrictions include funds subject to donor-imposed stipulations that they be maintained in perpetuity by the Organization. The Organization did not have any net assets under donor-imposed stipulations that they be maintained in perpetuity at December 31, 2023 and 2022.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with U.S. GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported in the financial statements and accompanying notes. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Cash Equivalents

The Organization considers as cash equivalents demand deposits and all highly liquid investments, which can be converted into known amounts of cash and have a maturity period of 90 days or less at the time of purchase. However, cash equivalents occasionally held in the Organization's investment portfolio are included as a component of investments.

Notes to Financial Statements December 31, 2023 and 2022

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (Continued)

Investments

Investments are recorded at fair value. Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. See Note 4 for discussion of fair value measurements.

Purchases and sales of securities are recorded on a trade-date basis. All unrealized gains and losses, realized gains and losses, and interest and dividend income, net of investment management fees are included in investment income in the accompanying statements of activities.

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment with a cost in excess of $3,000 and a projected useful life exceeding one year are capitalized and recorded at cost. Leasehold improvements are amortized using the straight-line method over the shorter of their estimated useful lives or the lease term. Software development costs are recorded at cost. Once software projects are substantially complete and ready for intended use, the cost is amortized using the straight-line method over the estimated useful life of three to ten years.

Depreciation and amortization on all other property and equipment is computed using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the related assets, which range from three to five years. Repairs and maintenance costs are expensed as incurred. Upon the retirement or disposal of assets, the cost and accumulated depreciation are eliminated from the respective accounts and any resulting gain or loss is included in revenues or expenses.

Impairment of Long-Lived Assets

The Organization reviews long-lived assets for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate the carrying amount of an asset may not be recoverable. Recoverability of assets to be held and used is measured by a comparison of the carrying amount of an asset to future undiscounted net cash flows expected to be generated by the asset. If such assets are considered to be impaired, the impairment to be recognized is measured by the amount by which the carrying amount of the assets exceeds the fair value of the assets. Assets to be disposed of are reported at the lower of carrying amount or the fair value less costs to sell.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (Continued)

Leases

The Organization records a right-of-use asset and lease liability for its operating leases. The right-of-use asset is amortized over the shorter of the lease term or the economic life of the leased asset. The associated lease liability represents the net present value of the future amounts due under the lease, calculated using a risk-free rate of return selected based on the term of the lease. Non-lease components are separated from lease components for accounting purposes. The Organization does not apply the recognition requirements under ASC Topic 842 (Leases) to short-term leases.

Revenue Recognition

Contributions, including unconditional promises to give, are recognized at fair value when received or pledged, whichever is earlier. All grants and contributions are considered to be available for without donor restriction use unless specifically restricted by the donor. The Organization reports grants and contributions as with donor restriction support if they are received with donor or grantor stipulations that limit the use of the donated assets. When a donor restriction expires, that is, when a stipulated time restriction ends or purpose restriction is accomplished, net assets with donor restrictions are reclassified to net assets without donor restrictions and reported in the statements of activities as net assets released from restrictions. Other income consists of licensing, royalties, merchandise sales, and revenues from training sessions, and is recognized when earned.

Donated Services

The Organization utilizes volunteer services in several areas of operations. Volunteer services that require special skills and would otherwise need to be purchased are recorded as support and expense in the period provided. Nonprofessional volunteer hours are not recorded as revenue or expense in the accompanying financial statements.

Functional Allocation of Expenses

The costs of the Organization's programs and other activities have been summarized on a functional basis in the accompanying statements of activities and functional expenses. The financial statements report certain categories of expenses that are attributable to one or more program or supporting functions of the Organization. Those expenses include occupancy, the Executive Director's office, human resources, and information technology. Occupancy costs are allocated based on personnel salaries, the executive director's office is allocated based on estimates of time and effort, human resources are allocated based on FTEs, and information technology department is allocated based on estimates of time and costs of specific technology utilized.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (Continued)

Adoption of New Accounting Standard

On January 1, 2023, the Organization adopted Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) issued Accounting Standards Update (ASU) 2016-13, Financial Instruments—Credit Losses (Topic 326): Measurement of Credit Losses on Financial Instruments, as amended, which modifies the measurement of expected credit losses using the modified retrospective transition method. The adoption of this Standard did not have a material impact on the Organization's financial statements. The allowance for credit losses as of December 31, 2023, was $-0- and there was no transition adjustments needed to opening net assets as of January 1, 2023.

Reclassification

Certain items in the statements of cash flows for the year ended December 31, 2022, have been reclassified to conform to the December 31, 2023, cash flows presentation. There was no effect on previously reported net cash used or provided by operating, investing or financing activities.

Subsequent Events

In preparing these financial statements, the Organization has evaluated events and transactions for potential recognition or disclosure through June 6, 2024, the date the financial statements were available to be issued.

3. Liquidity

The Organization has $6,536,472 and $2,769,864 of financial assets available within one year of the financial position date consisting of the following at December 31:

	 2023	 2022
Cash and cash equivalents	$ 2,589,756	$ 1,708,596
Due from Affiliates	4,588,920	3,194,478

Financial assets available within one year	$ 6,536,472	$ 2,769,864

3. Liquidity (Continued)

The Organization has a goal to maintain financial assets, which consist of cash and balances due from affiliates, on hand to meet 90 days of normal operating expenses, which are, on average, approximately $5,430,000 and $7,970,000 for December 31, 2023, and 2022, respectively. As more fully described in Notes 7 and 13, the Organization also has committed lines of credit totaling $5,500,000, which it could draw upon in the event of liquidity needs.

4. Concentrations

Revenue Risk

Approximately 33% and 23% of the Organization's support was provided by the Fund for the years ended December 31, 2023 and 2022, respectively. Any reduction in the level of support from the Fund could affect the Organization's program activities.

Credit Risk

Financial instruments that potentially subject the Organization to significant concentrations of credit risk consist of cash and investments. The Organization maintains cash deposit and transaction accounts, along with investments, with various financial institutions and these values, from time to time, exceed insurable limits under the Federal Depository Insurance Corporation (FDIC) and Securities Investor Protection Corporation (SIPC). The Organization has not experienced any credit losses on its cash and cash equivalents and investments to date as it relates to FDIC and SIPC insurance limits. Management periodically assesses the financial condition of these financial institutions and believes that the risk of any credit loss is minimal.

Market Risk

The Organization invests in various investment securities. Investment securities are exposed to various risks, such as interest rate, market, and credit risks. Due to the level of risk associated with certain investment securities, it is at least reasonably possible that changes in the values of investment securities will occur in the near term and those changes could materially affect the amounts reported in the statements of financial position and activities.

Notes to Financial Statements December 31, 2023 and 2022

5. Investments and Fair Value Measurements

A fair value hierarchy that prioritizes the input to valuation techniques used to measure fair value is established by U.S. GAAP. The hierarchy gives the highest priority to unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities (Level 1 measurements) and the lowest priority to unobservable inputs (Level 3 measurements). The three levels of the fair value hierarchy under U.S. GAAP are described below:

Level 1 Inputs to the valuation methodology are unadjusted quoted prices for identical assets or liabilities in active markets that the Organization has the ability to access.

Level 2 Inputs to the valuation methodology include:

- quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities in active markets;
- quoted prices for identical or similar assets or liabilities in inactive markets;
- inputs other than quoted prices that are observable for the asset or liability;
- inputs that are derived principally from or corroborated by observable market data by correlation or other means.

If the asset or liability has a specified (contractual) term, the Level 2 input must be observable for substantially the full term of the asset or liability.

Level 3 Inputs to the valuation methodology are unobservable and significant to the fair value measurement.

The asset or liability's fair value measurement level within the fair value hierarchy is based on the lowest level of any input that is significant to the fair value measurement. Valuation techniques used need to maximize the use of observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs.

Following is a description of the valuation methodologies used for assets measured at fair value. There have been no changes in methodologies used at December 31, 2023 and 2022.

Equities: Valued at the last sales price, or if there is no sale and the market is still considered active, at the last transaction price before year-end.
